Flying man pees on tween girl

JFK. A drunk man allegedly urinated on an 11-year-old girl Wednesday on a JFK-bound flight from Portland. Officials said that Robert Vietze, 18, stumbled out of his seat and peed on the girl. He later said he was too drunk to realize what he was doing, and said he had already had eight drinks. Flight attendants separated the man and the girl's father, who confronted him, and Vietze was ticketed for indecent exposure. METRO/AB

Statue of Liberty to close for one year

LIBERTY ISLAND. Lady Liberty will be getting a little nip and tuck. After all, the woman is almost 125 years old. Officials announced Wednesday that the Statue of Liberty will be closed to the public for one year for a $27 million renovation that will begin Oct. 29, the day after the 125th anniversary of her dedication. While the Statue of Liberty will be closed to visitors during the upgrade, Liberty Island will remain open. METRO/CG

Alleged groper gets steep bail

NEW YORK. The man police say is the Upper East Side groper will need $150,000 if he wants to get out of jail. Jose Hernandez, 18, from Corona, was issued the stiff bail after he was arraigned for sex abuse and forcible touching in three cases. Family and friends insist that police have the wrong man. Shooting at pol's car strikes fear in city ► Assemblyman William Boyland shot at with child in car ► Elected official and celeb attacked within days of each other ► Is NYC really safe?

Mayor Michael Bloomberg loves to boast about how safe New York is, but an elected official and his 7-year-old child narrowly avoided being killed Wednesday night in what police say was a random shooting.

Assemblyman William Boyland was driving in Brownsville with his son in the car at around 6 p.m. Wednesday when three bullets shattered the back window of his SUV. Neither of the two were hurt, but one of the bullets lodged in the front seat.

An NYPD spokeswoman said they do not think the assemblyman was targeted. But the idea that a random spray of bullets can hit even an assemblyman is horrifying New Yorkers.

"That sounds terrifying," said Michael Catrone, 25, a messenger who lives in Astoria. "It makes me a little nervous. You've just got to be careful."

The Boyland shooting comes on top of a summer when some of New York's most popular, well-traveled areas — like the Upper East Side and Brighton Beach — have seen shocking, and sometimes deadly crime outbreaks.

"What's happening in Central Brooklyn is just a microcosm of the city of New York," Councilwoman Letitia James told Metro. "It's unfortunate that Assemblyman Boyland's car has to happen in order to get the attention of this administration."

Bloomberg's office pointed out that crime in the 73rd precinct, where the shooting took place, is down by 20 percent since the mayor took office in 2001, and shootings have dropped by 18 percent this year from last. Citywide, murder is down, but rape and assault are up.

Boyland under fire

NEW YORK. While police don't think Boyland was the intended target in the shooting, he is a controversial figure.

The four-term assemblyman was indicted in March on bribery and corruption charges. Just last week, he enraged some Brownsville residents when he drove past a prayer vigil for a 13-year-old girl who was killed. Boyland honked his horn and waved at those attending, but didn't stop the car. METRO/AB fired into a crowd on the Brighton Beach boardwalk on a hot summer's day.

Summer of crime

► Aug 8: Musician Gavin Degraw was beaten as he left a bar in the East Village.

► Aug. 8: A man was arrested for stalking and groping 12 women on the UES as they walked near their homes.

Soros sued by ex for UES 'snub'

The octogenarian billionaire George Soros has been sued for $10 million by a former Brazilian soap star who said he reneged on promises to give her a pricey apartment on the Upper East Side.

Adriana Ferreyr, 28, said Soros had twice during the five years they dated promised to buy her apartments, but never followed through, according to her complaint filed Wednesday in New York State Supreme Court.

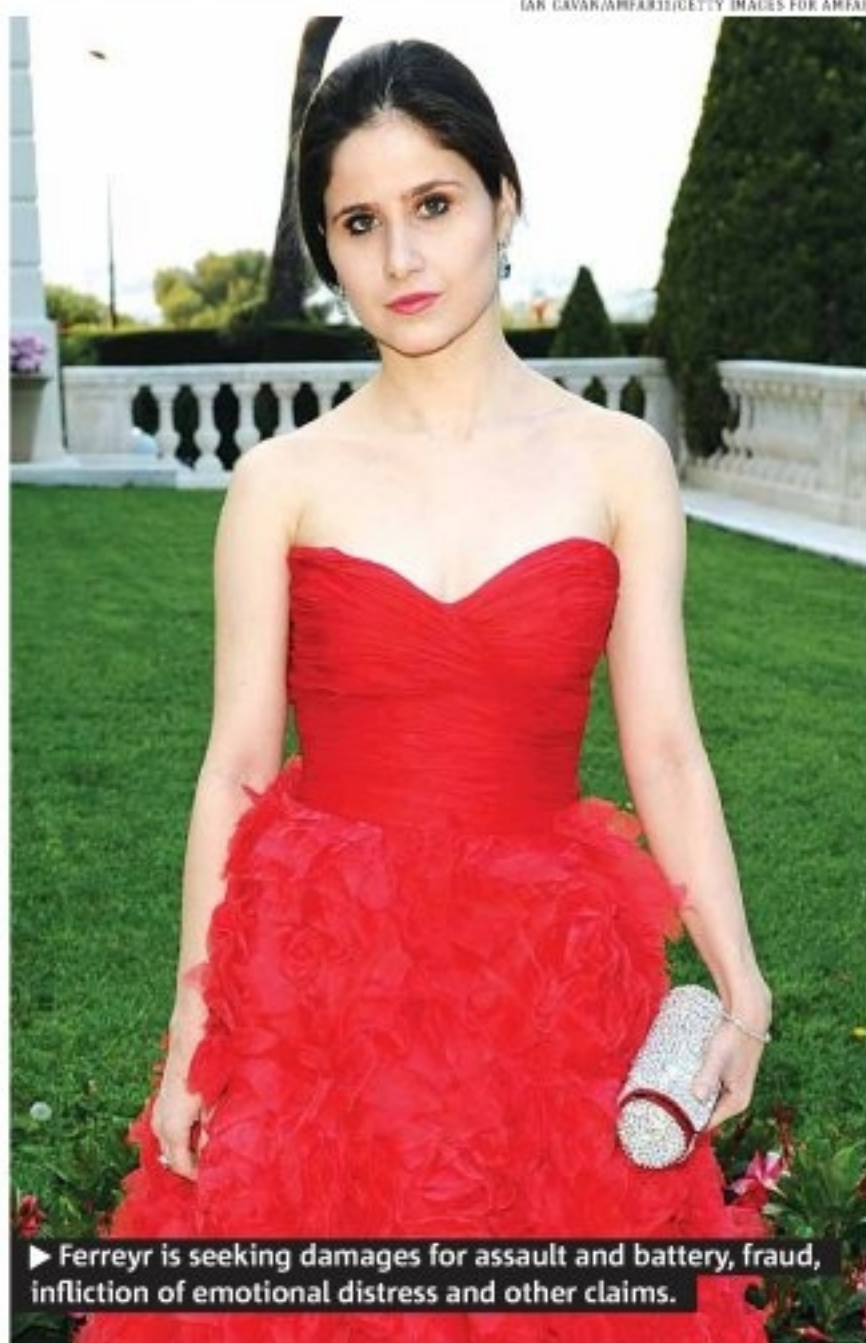

Ferreyr, now studying economics at Columbia University, said she and Soros, who turns 81 Friday and who is worth $14.5 billion, had been dating for more than three years

The plot thickens

Ferreyr said that Soros slapped her and tried to choke her and that she was cut when he threw a lamp — allegations he denies.

when he promised to buy her an apartment worth nearly $2 million near his home. The pair broke up two months later and soon reconciled, but Soros told her as they lay in bed that he had given the apartment to a new girlfriend, the lawsuit said.

William Zabel, a lawyer for Soros, called the lawsuit frivolous and without merit. REUTERS

► Ferreyr is seeking damages for assault and battery, fraud, infliction of emotional distress and other claims.

Nets owner wants to run Russia, too

NEW YORK. From palling around with Jay-Z and Mayor Mike Bloomberg to ... running Russia? Nets owner Mikhail Prokhorov said Thursday he has the skills to become the next prime minister of Russia, the billionaire's native country.

The 46-year-old, who is reportedly worth $18 billion and is the third-richest man in Russia, declared his ambition at a Moscow press conference.

"I think I'm capable of doing the tasks of prime minister," he said. The now-New Jersey Nets are scheduled to relocate to Brooklyn in 2012. METRO/CB

QUEENS. An NYPD cop posing as a 14-year-old nabbed a potential pervert this week. Cops said that a 63-year-old man was trying to meet up with someone he thought was a 14-year-old girl — but was in fact an undercover cop. Michael Gruda allegedly chatted online and tried to arrange dates with those he thought were teen girls in Queens. He was arrested and charged with an attempted criminal sex act and faces up to four years in prison. METRO/AB

Women smokers bear risk

WASHINGTON. Women who smoke cigarettes are more likely to develop heart disease than men, says new research released yesterday.

After reviewing data on 2.4 million people and 44,000 cardiac events, the article's authors found female smokers have a 25 percent greater risk for coronary heart disease than males who smoke cigarettes.

The researchers also

Chimp attack victim has a brand new face

► After undergoing a grueling, 20-hour full face transplant, Nash now has a fair, almost blushing, complexion.

► Two years after a horrific attack by her friend's pet primate, Charla Nash can now greet life with a smile

A woman who underwent a full face transplant in May after being mauled by a chimpanzee in 2009 revealed her new face in a photo that was released on Thursday.

Charla Nash, 57, who was photographed in her hospital bed at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, appears dramatically different with a new nose, lips and facial skin.

"I will now be able to do things I once took for granted," Nash said in a statement. "I will be able to smell. I will be able to eat normally. I will no longer be disfigured. I will have lips and will speak clearly once again. I will be able to kiss and hug loved ones."

Nash was hurt after a friend's 200-pound pet chimpanzee went on a rampage two years ago. She lost her hands, lips, nose and eyes, leaving her blind and disfigured after the attack. The animal was eventually shot and killed by police.

Prior to the surgery, Nash was often photographed wearing a veil to hide her disfigurement. REUTERS

WE ARE CONFIDENT OUR BUYERS WILL BEAT MOST LEGITIMATE OFFERS!

How to Test Us

Take your valuable items to other dealers before bringing them to us. Have them give you legitimate written offers. Then bring your items and your written offers to us. No one can guarantee to pay the highest prices all the time. But we believe the buyers we have chosen will beat most legitimate written offers.

Why Are We Telling You To Get Prices From Others?

Our buyers find it much easier to buy items of value from their customers after they have had previous offers. So it is in our own self interest to have you get written offers before coming to us. We also find that our customers are happier because they have the peace of mind of knowing they received a fair price.

Why Our Buyers May Be Able To Pay More

Our group of buyers will be here for only a few days. But in those few days, some of our buyers will buy more than many dealers buy in a year. Because of the volume of merchandise they handle, some of our buyers have developed world-wide markets and clients to liquidate their purchases at the best prices, which is one of the keys to why they can pay more than other dealers.

What Makes Us Different?

Most dealers who buy and sell items of value specialize in only a few areas. As a result, they are likely to make low offers for items in markets they are not familiar with.

For example, almost all jewelers specialize in new items. They do not often deal with old or used watches, which means they are unfamiliar with the true markets for such items. So if you have a used watch to sell, chances are a jeweler will make an offer on the low side because he does not want to make a mistake and pay too much.

The same thing applies to almost all items of value, such as lady items, art, jewelry, etc., that you bring to normal dealers.

Anderson, Carter, Bascom & Assoc. and Estate Buyer by MJD is different. Our volume buying has allowed us to bring together a large group of knowledgeable buyers. And although we do not control what our buyers pay, we believe they are comfortable paying prices that beat legitimate written offers from other dealers.

"UP TO" PRICES

IMPORTANT: All prices are based on rarity & condition. If an item is in poor condition, its value will be low. If an item is very rare, and in superb condition, it might be worth more than the "up to" prices listed. For example, a 1919 10¢ could be worth $1,400 in very high-quality condition or less than $1 in poor condition. In most cases, the "up to" prices listed in this advertisement are for items of exceptional rarity and quality. Chances are, you will not have those items. But we are willing to take the time to look at your items, just in case free of charge and give you our opinion.

IMPORTANT ECONOMIC INFORMATION

During the past few years, low interest rates, war, and an uncertain stock market combined to push prices of gold, silver, and many collectibles to their highest levels in 25 years. We have studied the investment and collectibles markets for decades, and in the past during times of economic uncertainty (which is happening now), there have been dramatic price declines in many areas of the jewelry, coin, and collectible markets. Which is why this may be the best time in decades for you to sell for some of the highest prices ever

"Glee: The 3D Concert Movie"

Director: Kevin Tancharoen

Cast: Chris Colfer, Jane Lynch, Lea Michele

Rating: PG

Grade: B+

"Glee: The 3D Concert Movie" literally sings to the choir. If there ever was a movie made for fans, this is it. A concert film, with real-life fan testimonials tucked in between the pop songs and show tunes, the music loses most of its context when there isn't a storyline to play off. What's left is essentially karaoke with some nifty dance moves thrown in. Highlights include Lea Michele warbling through a Barbra Streisand tune, but when Mark Salling sings "Fat Bottomed Girls" it doesn't sound so much like a Queen classic as it does the squealing death of rock 'n' roll.

You're known for your crude humor. Is that you all the time?

► Danny McBride wields a crossbow in "30 Minutes or Less."

In celebration of villainy

Danny McBride plays the antihero on HBO's "Eastbound and Down," but what he really loves is playing a straight-up villain in "30 Minutes or Less." In the film, McBride's an overgrown layabout living in his dad's basement. Once his character and that of Nick Swardson get the idea to open a brothel fronting as a tanning salon, they plant a bomb on a stoner pizza delivery boy in order to force him to rob a bank for the cash. Sounds kind of like the work of Kenny Powers, if you ask us. So, we asked him.

This character bears a resemblance to your "Eastbound and Down" character, Kenny Powers. Was that on purpose?

I was told that this character was written for me. So when I read the script, there were things in there that I felt that this was similar to things I've done before. You always try to pare back that as much as you can. Honestly, once I was in there with Nick [Swardson], it was a whole new dynamic — and so you just try to follow that.

Do you like playing the villain?

Some of my favorite characters when I was a kid were always the villains in movies, you know, like "The Karate Kid." I always rooted for Cobra Kai weirdly. You know, you love Darth Vader, so it is kind of fun. Even as a writer, it's fun to write characters that, their moral compass is slightly skewed and you got to figure out a way to get an audience still to root for that person. I think it's kind of a challenge.

Race, raunch and too many bromances

► Comedian Aziz Ansari makes it clear that he doesn't like that B-word ► Why the '30 Minutes or Less' star had Jamie Foxx as a body double (he might be joking)

"Can everyone stop saying bromance?" Aziz Ansari snips. "For some reason that bothers me. There is an alternate ending we just shot where we all f— each other. And when we watched that, we thought, 'This is turning into a gay thing.'"

The comedian and star of NBC's "Parks and Recreation" is talking about his role in "30 Minutes or Less." Director Ruben Fleischer describes the film as a

It's all about the improv

"We all improvised so much that it's really a credit to [director Ruben Fleischer] and the editors and the producers," Ansari says. "They did a great job of filtering all the stuff we did to the best stuff. I mean, it's hard to narrow down one favorite moment because there's really so much. When I watched, I was like, 'What, that made it in? That made it in?'"

Aziz Ansari's favorite action sequence: "The car chases in 'Steel Magnolias' are really amazing."

"double buddy comedy," since Ansari and Jesse Eisenberg play two friends forced to rob a bank by two other buddies (Danny McBride and Nick Swardson) who want to make fast money in order to open a tanning salon-slash-brothel. The two pairs seem incredibly chummy offscreen and on, but that doesn't mean Ansari would put up with Eisenberg's wild driving skills for the car chase scenes.

"It is Jesse in the car but in the passenger seat, it's not me," he says. "It's actually Jamie Foxx and they CGI-ed my face on in post, because I was too scared."

But one thing Ansari will never wuss out on is a chance to make a joke about race — his own or that of anyone else.

"It would've been awkward if there was a white character saying that stuff," he says referencing cracks he made at his own expense. "It's a good thing it was me, because those would not have made sense. They had to stop me sometimes like, 'Aziz, you're not Korean, you can't say that.'"

► Jaqueline Macinnes Wood stars in "Final Destination 5."

Fifth time's a charm

'Final Destination 5'

Director: Steven Quale

Cast: Nicholas D'Agosto and Emma Bell

Rating: R

Grade: D+D+D+D

There's something delightfully straightforward about the "Final Destination" franchise, a series that knows what it is and doesn't pretend to be anything else. It also knows why you're here: to see a group of witless young adults miraculously cheat death, only to have it catch up with them one by one in ever-more complex ways. The biggest surprise is that, five films in, the franchise is actually at its best, managing to work in macabre laughs and a clever twist that rewards eagle-eyed viewers. But what about those infamous death scenes? Some are more elaborate than others, but all are executed with tension. Let's just say you'll never watch a gymnastics competition the same way again.

'30 Minutes or Less'

Director: Ruben Fleischer

Cast: Aziz Ansari, Jesse Eisenberg, Danny McBride and Nick Swardson

Rating: R

Grade: D+D+D+D

There's nothing genteel about "30 Minutes or Less." The presence of Danny McBride assures that. If you don't find his brand of foul-mouthed, anything-goes humor amusing, then you'll find very little to like here. But, if McBride turns your crank, you'll find much to enjoy.

Jesse Eisenberg may not get nominated for this one, but he does get a good Facebook jab in there. It's good to see he can have a sense of humor about "The Social Network," his biggest success so far. Aziz Ansari is a manic ball of energy here; and while at first it seems like he might be too much, by the end it's great he's there. The other thing this movie has going for it is the pace. It moves like a rocket. The 90 minutes really do feel like 30 minutes — or less!

No one will be talking about the cinematography or costume design, but they will talk about what a raunchy good time they had at the movies — and that's the goal of this kind of film. It's like the spiritual cousin of director Ruben Fleischer's "Zombieland," an unexpectedly fun mix of action and humor.

METRO WORLD NEWS IN LONDON

► Aziz Ansari and Jesse Eisenberg play ex-best friends in "30 Minutes or Less."

Synopsis

Very loosely based on a strange Erie, Pa., bank robbery, the story involves a slacker pizza delivery boy (Jesse Eisenberg) who is kidnapped by two moronic criminals (Danny McBride and Nick Swardson). They strap a bomb to his chest and order him to rob a bank or, in 10 hours, everything will go boom. Incidental to the main story are a best friend (Aziz Ansari) and a psycho killer (Michael Pena).

'It means everything to me'

► Mary J. Blige — singer and, more recently, actress — makes 'The Help' even more moving

Paging Spielberg

Blige is taking her new career seriously, working with an acting coach to hone her skills. "I'm improving," she says modestly. While she says music has given her great confidence in life, "acting is just the opposite. It says to me, 'You've got a lot of work to do. You're blinking. You're stuttering.'

Keep working on your confidence." And where does she hope that growing confidence will take her? Ideally into a Steven Spielberg film. "If he ever does a huge movie, I would love for him to call Mary J. Blige to be one of the African-Americans in the film," she says. "That's a big deal."

While she's lent her musical talents to films before, Grammy-winning singer Mary J. Blige wanted "The Living Proof," her contribution to "The Help," to be more than a mere soundtrack listing. Based on Kathryn Stockett's best-selling novel of the same name, "The Help" captures the essence of 1960s Jackson, Miss., chronicling the relationships between three very different women who come together around a secret writing project that puts them all at risk.

"I saw a screening of the movie twice," Blige explains. "At each screening I would write down each time something would make me cry and I would write down when I laughed. By the time we got to the studio, the song was almost written." And while the song intertwines thematically with the film, it's still an intensely personal piece for Blige. "It means everything to me," she says of the tune. "It means I know exactly where I'm going. I know that my journey continues because it's been so rough here that to have any life, I have to have the courage to keep moving."

And moving forward is something Blige excels at, starting with moving from music into acting. Having already made several television and film appearances, Blige is currently shooting "Rock of Ages." Describing her casting in the Broadway smash-turned-movie as "a blessing," Blige plays Justice, "a gentlemen's club owner — a very nice strip club owner," she says. "I have to be the light in a dark place. That's who Justice is. And that's basically my part. Of course there's singing. I sing and I act."

Just Wild about Carrie

► Brownstein raises a new Flag ► Guitarist and singer will keep bringing the funny into next year as well

► Time to get Wild: From left, Weiss, Brownstein, Timony and Cole. Wild Flag's debut comes out next month.

You'll see a lot more of Carrie Brownstein in the next few months. The guitarist, who first appeared on the indie rock radar in the '90s with her band Sleater-Kinney, had gone into semi-retirement not too long after that band's last album in 2005. She did pop up on National Public Radio every now and then, but this year she has really amped up her exposure.

At the beginning of 2011,
she and "Saturday Night Live" star Fred Armisen
starred in the hilarious
"Portlandia" series on the IFC network, which has ordered 10 new half-hour episodes to premiere in January. And all the while, she had been putting together

Wild Flag, a supergroup with other women of '90s indie rock. The band also includes Mary Timony from Helium, Rebecca Cole from the Minders and Sleater-Kinney drummer Janet Weiss.

Wait, wasn't Sleater-Kinney a trio? How does Corinne Tucker, the one member of S-K who isn't in Wild Flag, feel about that?
When we spoke with Brownstein earlier this year, she said that she and Tucker still talk frequently.

"I was really proud of Corinne: She did a solo record, which is something that I could never do," said Brownstein. "It's definitely a daring, vulnerable move."

We reminded her that for a guitarist to start a comedy show certainly is daring and vulnerable too.

"As a kid I remember I'd always put on plays in my neighborhood," she said. "I think there's still part of me that operates under that assumption that if you have enough confidence and gumption and there's something real at the base of it, you can get there and make people believe."

Wave that Flag

To say that Wild Flag approach their music with confidence and gumption is an understatement. They own the stage with classic rock riffs and melodies that surpass some of the material from their former bands. They bop around onstage, hardly able to contain their excitement: "I really like collaborating," said Brownstein, "and obviously my new band is a huge collaboration."

Are you 'Hungry' for more? You're in luck

► Lisa Lillien, aka 'Hungry Girl,' brings her cooking show to Food Network ► Where the ideas for her guilt-free recipes come from

Weekend recipe

Egg McMuggin'

Per serving (entire mug):
174 calories, 3.25g fat,
1,081mg sodium, 9g carbs, 1g fiber, 2.5g sugars, 25g protein

- Ingredients: (Makes one serving)
- 1/2 slice light bread
 - 1/2 cup fat-free liquid egg substitute
 - 1 1/2 oz. (about 3 slices) 97 to 98 percent fat-free ham, chopped
 - 1 wedge The Laughing Cow Light Original Swiss cheese
 - 1 tablespoon shredded fat-free cheddar cheese

Directions:

- 1 Toast bread, and then cut into cubes.
- 2 Spray a large microwave-safe mug lightly with nonstick spray. Add bread cubes, egg substitute, ham and cheese wedge, breaking cheese into pieces as you add it. Mix gently. Microwave for 1 minute.
- 3 Lightly stir, and then top with shredded cheese. Microwave for another 45 to 60 seconds, until scramble is just set. Stir and enjoy!

► "Hungry Girl" airs at Sundays at 10 a.m. on Food Network.

It's been a busy few years for Lisa Lillien, known to her devoted followers as "Hungry Girl." She has put out four best-selling cookbooks, has about 1,000,000 subscribers to her daily newsletter and is in the second season of her cooking show, "Hungry Girl," airing on Food Network. We chatted with the self-proclaimed "foodologist."

How will this season be different from the last?

It's a totally new set, and the show itself has really evolved. There are more recipes [and] the recipes are even better. It's just a lot of really fun themes and more guests. Last year I only had one guest and this year there's some surprise guests.

I heard that actress Miranda Cosgrove came to make spaghetti tacos with you.

We had a lot of fun. She's the nicest kid. She was saying she doesn't really cook very often but she liked it. It was extra fun for me because my husband created [the show] "iCarly" and he created spaghetti tacos as a joke and they became a thing.

Did you always envision a TV

Quoted

"I never really thought of myself as someone that could have a show. Early on, I was scared to think about it." LILLIEN show as part of the Hungry Girl brand?

I never really thought of myself as someone that could have a show. Early on, I was scared to think about it. I kind of wrote it off until the brand became much larger, and then after I had so many subscribers and these books, I was rethinking the idea of a show. But it always kind of scared me. Even after I did the deal to do the show, I was terrified.

How did you overcome that?

I like to face my fears. If you're afraid of things, and you avoid them, then you don't grow.

How does it feel to move to the Food Network?

It's still surreal to turn on the TV and see Rachael Ray's show and then my show and then Guy [Fieri] — it's bizarre for me. I watch Food Network all the time.

For inspiration?

Totally. I get a lot of ideas from the network.

Where else?

Fast food, commercials, TV shows, and from subscribers and just things that I see on menus.

Is it hard to convey your bubbly personality on TV?

That is the biggest challenge, but I just try to be myself.

THE WORD

Metro's Monica Weymouth shares her take on the world of gossip t @monicaatmetro ■ monica.weymouth@metro.us — Dorothy Robinson will return on Monday.

Pattinson's deleted scene

Our least favorite thing about vampires? The now seemingly required graphic undead sex scenes. (Runner-up goes to CGI werewolves, but those, thankfully, are another story. For now. Put down your creepy pen, Stephenie!)

Robert Pattinson seems to share our discomfort, and was hoping to lighten up the honeymoon scene in the upcoming "Breaking Dawn." "I wanted to have it as a line so much: 'I bit through all the pillows. Every. Single. One.' And then he'd start crying," the actor tells Entertainment Weekly. "By the way, that's what he should be ashamed of in the morning. All those beautiful pillows! Egyptian cotton! I ruined this bed!"

Nice rewrites, Rob. If you need some edits, the Metro conference room — complete with very cheap, totally replaceable, don't-even-worry-about-them Ikea chairs — is always open.

Have a crazy bride-to-be in your life?

For perspective, we present this quote from Kim Kardashian:

"Last night I took the red-eye at midnight, landed at eight in the morning in New York, ran to Vera Wang for a dress fitting at 10 a.m., then left at noon on another flight out," she tells E! Online. "I spent like 11 hours on a plane just to spend three hours in New York."

Paula Abdul, we owe you

We love leaked lists of diva demands. Mostly, because it makes us feel like the low-maintenance, gracious people we so clearly aren't, but it's also nice to know that should gossip columnists start raking in the big bucks, it's still cool to demand sort-of Skittles.

Paula Abdul's assistants, according to UsMagazine.com's source, are required to: Tape all of her conversations, monitor TiVo for any mentions of her and remind her that she is a "warrior, survivor and gift." A gift indeed.

Talking points

Lopez and Anthony play nice(ish)

Jennifer Lopez reunited with estranged husband Marc Anthony this week in the Hamptons, according to TMZ. The pair were spotted riding in the back of a red convertible in Southampton, N.Y., where Anthony was visiting to see his children, his rep explains. And he's reportedly not taking their divorce well. "His mood shifts from blaming her to begging her to take him back to telling her she is destroying his life," a source tells Us Weekly, adding that while working out the details of their impending divorce, Anthony was "being difficult on every little point. He wants to prolong things so she reconsiders."

Kate Hudson keeping her parenting cool

Kate Hudson says she's aspiring to be like her own parents when it comes to raising her kids. "My parents allowed my brother and I to have our freedom," she tells Elle magazine. "[We could] be ourselves and feel confident in our choices and make mistakes without too much judgment." Hudson hopes she "can do as good of a job" as her mom, Goldie Hawn, who "never hands out unsolicited preachy words of wisdom," she says. And despite having a newborn at home, Hudson isn't slowing down. "I would never want to be with someone who complains and goes, 'Oh, my god, my life is so crazy," she says. "If you make the best of it, it can be amazing."

More good news for Viola Davis

It's a big week for Viola Davis. Not only is she earning rave reviews for her role in "The Help," but she and husband Julius Tennon are starting a family. "We're about to adopt a baby," Davis tells E! News. The baby will be the couple's first child together, while Tennon has two children from previous relationships.

ALEX MCCORD OF "THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF NEW YORK CITY"

ORDERING SMART WHEN DINING OUT

If you live or work in the city, chances are you're in a restaurant often. Even though I love to cook, at least once or twice a week I find myself at a business meal. The latest Zagat survey states that these occur three times per week on average for New Yorkers; and with all the choices out there, why not do business over breakfast, lunch, coffee, brunch, drinks, dinner or nightcaps? Well, in July, the NYC Department of Health announced that six out of 10 New Yorkers are overweight, which is a little sobering. Even if you're amongst the four, not the six, most of us feel we ought to be doing a little better.

I have to force myself to work out. Believe me, if fashion editors and high-definition TV cameras were at all forgiving, I'd never do it. Exercise is important, even in small doses. But for those of us who live life at Mach 2, what else can we do? Start with the restaurant menu.

About six months ago, I started paying attention to the way I felt after business meals. Many times I'd feel bloated and overfull, and I noticed I always ate more than at home. So I tried two simple changes: No more bread, and instead of ordering a starter and a main course, I usually get two starters. I hate being the only one at the table to order one course if everyone else is starting; having two small plates keeps me on the same schedule as the rest of the table and doesn't make me feel like my skinny jeans suddenly shrank two sizes. The bread trick works when eating with the family as well — our boys no longer gorge on the breadbasket and complain they can't eat their dinner. Eating out is a way of life in New York, but doesn't have to make you the size of the Statue of Liberty.

Horoscope

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. If you fail to think for yourself, you can bet your bottom dollar that there will be someone who steps up and thinks for you. You may not like the results.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Actions, not words, are what impress others, so all the talk in the world won't cut the mustard. Unless you are prepared to back up what you say, you may be viewed as just a blowhard.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Generally, you're a reasonable person who looks before leaping. If you let your guard down, however, you might throw caution to the wind and gamble on what you shouldn't.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Important decisions need to be shared and resolved by both you and your mate. Each might see things differently and misinterpret the other.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Unless you are an expert, you should not attempt to interpret and/or explain instructions on how to do something dangerous. If it misfires, you would be held accountable.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Adopting too indifferent of an attitude about your resources could create severe problems for you down the line and cause you to wonder why your funds ran out.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Common sense and logical thinking will work for you in ways that your rabbit's foot won't. Be sensible about how far you can push your luck.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. It's always important to see things as they are and not as you want them to be. Know the difference between optimism and pure wishful thinking that can lead you astray.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. Enjoy yourself in ways that won't decimate your wallet. In fact, expensive activities are likely to provide the least amount of enjoyment for you.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Although there is likely to be an abundance of opportunities for you to partake of, you aren't likely to find the enjoyment in them that you normally would. Do something simple, and refresh your worldview.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Just because you got away with something in the past doesn't mean you will get to do so again. Besides, you should make a concerted effort not to repeat a major mistake.

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Avoid going out with friends who have plenty of discretionary funds to spend that you don't. It could be embarrassing if you can't keep up with them and need to leave early.

Granderson eyes MVP one year after swing change

Curtis Granderson will step into the batter's box Friday night against David Price marking an anniversary more significant than many other milestones.

It will be exactly one year ago that he returned to the lineup after working with hitting coach Kevin Long on fixing the holes in his swing evident by his .240 average his first year as a Yankee.

On TV this weekend

Yankees vs. Rays
Fri. 7:05, Sat. 4:10, Sun. 1:10

"I feel like he made some changes," Granderson said. "I feel confidence-wise the same, aggressive-wise the same."

The changes paid off in the final six weeks last year when he hit 14 home runs in his final 165 at-bats and Granderson has kept it going this year.

Granderson has become an MVP candidate after hitting another home run in Thursday's 6-5 win over the Angels.

"When you look at his numbers, you say he's a home run hitter," manager Joe Girardi said. "But he has been huge in our lineup and continued that today." LARRY FLEISHER

Reese hearing criticism

The natives are getting restless and the Giants haven't even played a preseason game yet.

Fresh off the news that Pro Bowl wideout Steve Smith defected to the hated Eagles, there was uproar in Big Blue nation from players (privately), fans and media alike.

General manager Jerry Reese insists there's a plan in place.

"It seems like people are in a panic and perception is we are not doing a lot. We are sticking to the game plan," Reese insisted. "We are not going out to make sexy [signings]." METRO/TW

Storylines to watch

- ▶ Preseason Week 1: Giants vs. Panthers, at Carolina
- ▶ When: Saturday, 8 p.m., NBC4 ▶ Up next: vs. CHI

1 Will Cam Newton show starting ability?

This isn't about the Giants, but the most interesting storyline may be what we see from No. 1 overall pick Cam Newton.

The defending Heisman Trophy winner and national champion will likely play backup to Jimmy Clausen Saturday, but he'll get plenty of snaps — including some with the first-team offense.

He will be without Steve Smith, but new Panther Jeremy Shockey will get a chance to play against the team that drafted him.

We'll have to wait and see how Newton handles playing in a pro-style system.

2 Which receiver takes Steve Smith's spot?

As of right now it's Victor Cruz, Domenik Hixon, Michael Clayton, Jerrel Jernigan, Devin Thomas, and Duke Calhoun vying for that vaunted slot receiver position.

And that's not even counting Ramses Barnden, who's nursing an injury.

All of those guys will be playing a lot of snaps in this game, so we should at least get some idea of who is playing well. It's a crowded field, but with no tangible leader of the pack, yet.

3 Which of the young linebackers shines?

General manager Jerry Reese has been lambasted for not making a free agent splash at the position.

Outside of weakside linebacker Michael Boley and defensive lineman-turned strongside linebacker Mathias Kiwanuka, the Giants' linebackers average just 1.3 years of NFL experience. Reese said he's comfortable with what he has at linebacker. Now is the time for the youngsters to reward his faith.

Niese strong despite Mets loss

Jon Niese was the image of defeat as he slowly walked off the mound with his face buried in his jersey.

The crowd took to its feet in appreciation for a job well done anyway.

Niese (11-9) was the hard luck loser, 3-2, Thursday against the Padres. On a day in which the bullpen was depleted, Niese was strong.

He limited San Diego to three runs — two earned — in 7 2/3 innings. Niese scattered seven hits and two walks while striking out seven. He tied a career high with 122 pitches.

"Ronny [Paulino] and I mixed it up pretty well. We threw all of our pitches. He made me throw my change-up a little bit more and got some early outs with that," Niese said.

"Johnny pitched an absolutely outstanding ballgame," manager Terry Collins said. ● DENIS GORMAN
